Text I – questions 6 to 9

Survey on leisure activities

DANCING

Men and women, mostly over 35

Time spent: 5 hours a week

Running costs: £118 a year

Family participation: Most wives, many husbands and a few daughters, but very few sons

Exceptional for: Most belong to a club and attend classes; good for meeting people; satisfying without taking too much time

Hints: Join a club; take beginners' classes; don't feel shy or take it too seriously

FISHING (all types)

Nearly all men, most started when under 15

Time spent: 7 hours a week

Running costs: £129 a year

Family participation: A few wives; many sons, but very few daughters

Exceptional for: Being relaxing; many belong to a club
Hints: Don't spend too much on equipment to start with; be patient; remember that "more equipment is produced to catch fishermen than fish"

SWIMMING

Men and, particularly, women

Time spent: 3 hours a week

Running costs: £56 a year

Family participation: Most husbands, many wives, sons and daughters

Exceptional for: Good for health; satisfying without taking too much time

Hints: Start as young as possible, have tuition at first; go regularly; use public baths at off-peak times

TENNIS

Men and women (but more men) up to 65

Time spent: 6 hours a week

Running costs: £79 a year

Family participation: Many wives and sons; some husbands and daughters

Exceptional for: Most belong to a club; good for meeting people; physically tiring

Hints: Start young; join a club, get proper coaching; play regularly

QUESTÃO 6

According to text I, judge the items below.

- ± All the activities attract lots of adolescents.
- ± Fewer women than men are interested in tennis.
- ± On an hourly basis, fishing is cheaper than dancing.
- ± The dancing family participation could be listed in ascending scale as: sons, daughters, husbands and wives.

QUESTÃO 7

In relation to text I, evaluate the items that follow.

- ± In a period of one week, swimming is the least time-consuming activity.
- ± People have to be in shape to start any of the activities listed.
- ± In TENNIS/Exceptional for, the sentence "Most belong to a club" means the same as Most women belong to a club.
- ± All the activities mentioned produce the same physical effects on people.

QUESTÃO 8

According to text I, judge the following items.

- ± Most men interested in fishing started this activity before the age of 15.
- ± There is little participation of daughters in fishing.
- ± While there is no age limit for men, only women younger than 65 play tennis.
- ± Playing tennis is exceptional for being relaxing.

QUESTÃO 9

According to the "Hints" written for each of the activities listed in text I, judge the items below.

- ± In order to succeed, beginners should take dancing classes seriously.
- ± Expensive fishing equipment is not necessary for beginners.
- ± Often, fishermen are caught by their own fishing equipment.
- ± In tennis, the participant should start young with the help of a coach.

QUESTÃO

Music

Rolling Stones: Twenty years on and the Stones are still rolling! This is their first concert for six years in Britain, as part of a two-month European tour. The band still plays the songs that made them so popular with the same energy as before, but it's Mick Jagger who attracts the crowds as surely the most spectacular rock artist on stage at the moment. In case they don't play for another six years in this country, go and see them on Friday and Saturday at 9 p.m. at Wembley Stadium.
